THE ACADEMIC APPROACH

Student-Centered Differentiated Instruction

At Gibault Catholic High School, students experience a modular schedule designed to prepare them for the independence and flexibility of college. With classes organized into shorter, flexible modules, students have built-in time throughout the day to manage their responsibilities, study, collaborate with classmates, or simply recharge. During open mods, students can work independently in the Innovation Commons, study outside, meet with teachers, complete assignments, or get ahead on homework. This structure encourages students to take ownership of their time, develop strong organizational skills, and become more confident, independent learners.

Gibault also offers opportunities to earn college credit while still in high school through our partnership with Saint Louis University (SLU). Students can choose from more than 45 college-credit opportunities, allowing them to challenge themselves academically and begin building college credits before graduation.

Beyond traditional coursework, Gibault offers a variety of unique and engaging electives designed to help students explore their interests, discover their talents, and develop real-world skills. From digital marketing and creative media to specialized courses and hands-on learning opportunities, students have the freedom to build an educational experience that fits their goals.

At Gibault, we don't just prepare students for college, we give them opportunities to experience it.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY

1:1 Support in and out of the classroom

Gibault Catholic High School has an active Educational Success Coordinator who provides academic, social and emotional support to each student. GCHS also has a College & Career Planning Coordinator who sits down 1:1 with each higher level student to discuss next steps after graduation.

Gibault students take the Pre-ACT as freshmen and sophomores and the ACT as juniors, with testing opportunities built into the school experience. Juniors also participate in an ACT Prep course designed to build confidence, strengthen test-taking skills, and introduce proven strategies for improving standardized test performance. These opportunities are included in the cost of tuition.

Students also have access to additional academic support throughout the school year. National Honor Society members serve as peer tutors, providing individualized help to fellow students. In addition, a dedicated math tutor is available two days each week to provide extra support and help students strengthen their understanding and succeed in their math courses.

Through regular guidance programming and academic support, students develop strong organizational and study skills, explore career and college options, and learn how to navigate the college application process. Our goal is to ensure every student has the knowledge, resources, and support needed to confidently pursue their path after graduation.

*There is

At Gibault, students benefit from a small, close-knit community. Each young adult has a chance to explore their interests and discover their passions. They don't have to choose between excelling in the classroom, shining on the field, or expressing themselves through the arts. At GCHS, students have the opportunity to do it all.

It is not uncommon for students to play a sport, perform on stage, and be on the executive board of a club while also taking electives such as Digital Marketing, Horticulture, or Accounting. GCHS provides an environment where young adults can build their confidence and become leaders for life. Students can create an experience at GCHS that is truly customized for them!
